It's November and that means Wings900 is about to celebrate it's 11th anniversary! In doing so we've spent nearly 8 months in planning coming up with a model that would be unique and also be something that a vast majority of collectors could enjoy. In doing so, we teamed up with John Boy & Billy Bob and are presenting an Airbus A320-200 in United Airlines "Battleship" Colors.

Last year, one of the main issues we had was things were rushed and we had an unstable checkout system through the Wings900 website. This year, to avoid the mad rush and confusion we have team up with the folks at www.airparadigm.com to use their checkout system to avoid any hassle and confusion. In addition, they are willing to combine any models from their stock to save on shipping! The direct link to order the models is listed below:

There are two versions of this model. The first model is part of the Wings900 Authentication Program and will not exceed 250 pieces. This is the first 1:400 model to use the Wings900 Model Authentication Program and is sure to be a collectable for many years to come and comes for the low price of 24.95.

The second model is not part of the Wings900 Authentication Program and will only cost 23.95.

Another great addition this year, is that last year quantities were restricted to 1 unit per person. We have increased the units to a higher yet still limited number so that this mainstream release can benefit both fleet builders and also that every that desires to own this model should be able to receive one.

As another year comes to a close here on Wings900, we would like to thank you for your support over the years and hope for many more prosperous years to come! Models are scheduled to ship to be on your doorstep before the Christmas Holiday!
